Board Games

A popular game used by SLPs! Works great for teletherapy and in person.

Students choose from 6 characters and place them on the starting arrow. Students take turns spinning the wheel and answering questions to move their players along the game board. The game can also be played without questions so you can ask them verbally.

Each board has several special squares that trigger surprising animations. For example, square 6 causes a monster wearing a shark hat to pop out of the water. Square 25 makes the purple monster build a sandcastle.
